

Kevin Silk
Senior Consultant

Kevin Silk is a Senior Consultant at The Leader's Edge. He has nearly 40 years of experience as a global business leader serving as CEO, COO, CFO and General Manager. Kevin's diverse experience spans across diverse business structures including privately-held businesses, venture-backed startups, and executive level positions in large corporations.

Kevin has coached and developed hundreds of individuals over his career. His areas of expertise include leadership resilience and career transformation or evolution. In his coaching, Kevin uses a practical approach to help individuals maximize their performance and value while honoring their unique definitions of success.

Throughout his career, Kevin has built global businesses both organically and through dozens of acquisitions, joint ventures, and strategic partnerships. He has been involved in numerous successful exits and has worked extensively with founders to drive maximum value in their businesses.

Kevin earned a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Siena College in Loudonville NY. He started his career with Ernst and Young where he acquired his CPA certification. He has worked across the globe in industries spanning e-commerce, medical, financial, software, fashion, and advertising.